

Porkers Have Slim Change for SWC Title

By The Associated Press

Slim hopes for a Southwest Conference basketball championship still are alive for the Arkansas Razorbacks, after their 79-69 triumph over Texas at Fayetteville Saturday night.

But the big season is reaching the point where all is not up for the Porkers. The Southern Methodist Mustangs, with nine victories and 33 losses in conference play, must fold quickly if they are going to yield first place to Arkansas.

The Porkers are second behind the Mustangs with an 8-2 record. Rice, which was idle Saturday night, is third with a 7-2 mark. It was "Glen Rose Night" at Fayetteville, and the Porkers turned on Texas like they were determined to show their appreciation of the veteran of Arkansas coach. They held a 10-point margin most of the way.

Big guns for Arkansas were Gerald Barnett, who dunked 28 points, and lanky Manuel Whitley, who scored 21.

The Razorbacks scored on 41 per cent of their shots from the field, an average that will win basketball games in almost any league. Texas hit 38 per cent, which is well above poor.

Rose, a former All-Southwest Conference football and basketball player at Arkansas, in his 13th season as Razorback basketball coach.

He was honored by his former players, about 35 of whom sat together at the game in the new Arkansas field house. A scroll, citing him as "Mr. Basketball in the Southwest Conference," was given to Rose at the halftime by R. C. Pitts, one of the former Porker basketball players.

In his 12 seasons at the Arkansas helm, Rose has finished first or second in the Southwest Conference eight times.

Southern Methodist has a chance this week to clinch the Southwest Conference basketball title.

The Ponies host Baylor at Dallas Tuesday night and Arkansas Saturday night. If SMU defeats Baylor it clinches a tie for the crown and a victory Saturday night means the championship.

The Mustangs really had to be versatile last week. TCU tried to sneak up on the Ponies with a deep freeze, the general idea being to keep the Mustangs from shooting even if TVU didn't shot to do it. SMU managed to sneak ahead in the second half, then went into a stall of its own for a 20-22 victory.

Saturday night the Ponies clashed with Texas A&M and had to pour 'em through the hoop for a 92-80 victory.

Baylor came back Saturday night to slam TCU 94-68. Jerry Mallett hit for 25 points before being pulled along with the rest of the first team early in the second holding company the Stephens firm would also have to enumerate its large stockholders, its officers, directors and over $20,000 a year employees and their compensation and indebtedness, if any, to system companies. It would be asked, also, to describe any existing litigation over the property of registrant of any subsidiary.

The company, naturally, is not eager to subject itself to SEC registration requirements. It was exempted in December, 1954, when it obtained SEC approval of the transfer of 51.5 per cent of the common stock of Arkansas Louisiana Gas to the investment company on condition that Ark-La would "spin-off" to a new company the Ark-La production, gathering and extracting properties in exchange for the new company's capital stock which would then be sold to Mississippi River Fuel Company.

It was Stephens' failure to follow through with the "spin-off" that brought on the SEC order setting the matter up for hearing February 20.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The Securities and Exchange Commission takes another look today at the question of whether the W. R. Stephens Investment Co., of Little Rock, should continue to be exempt from provisions of the Holding Company Act.

It has set the matter for hearing before a hearing officer.

The Stephens Company owns a controlling interest in Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co., acquired in 1954 from Cities Service Co., which was ordered by the SEC to dispose of its Ark-La holdings.

At the time Stephens said it did not intend to retain the interest in Ark-La and asked an exemption from the Holding Company Act.

The SEC allowed the exemption but subsequently Stephens changed plans, continued to hold control of Ark-La and the SEC called the hearing to determine whether it should modify or revoke the exemption.

The act requires that a holding company obtain SEC approval of various financial transactions, including issuance, purchase and sale of securities.

When it obtained an exemption from the act, Stephens outlined this plan to the SEC:

It would purchase 1,958,180 shares of Ark-La stock from Cities Service at $12.50 a share. This amounted to 51½ per cent of the outstanding stock and carried control of Ark-La.

Then it would set up a new company and transfer to it Ark-La's oil and gas production and extraction properties, leaving gas distribution properties with Ark-La. In return Ark-La would get all the capital stock of the new company.

As the next step, Stephens said, Ark-La would distribute stock in the new company to its stockholders on a pro rata basis. And then Stephens would sell its share of the new company stock, amounting to control, to Mississippi River Fuel Co., a Pipeline company. Stephens was to sell its Ark-La stock at public sale and withdraw from the picture.

It was on the basis of its plan to withdraw that Stephens received exemption from the Holding Company Act.

The SEC said its Division of Corporate Regulation had reported that Stephens "has decided that it was not feasible and it was inadvisable to carry out the proposals relating to the transfer of the production-extraction properties, and the sales of the controlling stock of the new company to, and the acquisition thereof by, Mississippi; that Mississippi and Stephens Investment in Company have cancelled all agreements between them and that there are no present plans for the separation of the properties of Ark-La."

In calling the hearing the SEC notified the Arkansas Public Service Commission, the Louisiana Public Service Commission and mayors of Little Rock, North Little Rock, Pine Bluff, Hot Springs, El Dorado, Texarkana and Camden, Ark.; Shreveport and Bossier City, La., and Texarkana, Tex.

It directed that the hearing officer seek evidence on circumstances of the original exemption order and on "whether the exemption is detrimental to the public interest or the interest of investors in or consumers of Ark-La."

Making Movie in Spain Is Valuable

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, (AP)—The benefits of using Spain as a location for movie epics are hailed by Robert Rossen, "triple-threat" film creator back in Hollywood after a lengthy absence.

Last year writer-director-producer Rossen, whose "All The King's Men" was named the best picture by the Academy in 1949, filmed "Alexander The Great" in Spain. It was the first big production made there, and Rossen reports the experience turned out well.

"Of course we encountered difficulties," he remarked. "The Spanish are not up on modern methods. They still farm the land the way they did 2,000 years ago. They have a film industry that makes 30 or 60 films a year, but their equipment is pretty much out of date."

"But the Spanish technicians are eager to learn. I brought in top craftsmen to head the departments, and the results were slow but thorough. I found the Spaniards to be very friendly and eagerness to please. The government did everything to help, even lending army troops for battle scenes."

"The picture cost a little over three million dollars to make. The same production would have run six million in Hollywood."

But the cost wasn't the only factor in his selection of Spain.

"I think a lot of big pictures fail because the extras are not convincing," he explained.

"Alexander The Great" takes place in Greece, Persia and India. How could you find enough extras in Hollywood that would be convincing? I think too many Hollywood films fail because there is too big a gap between the belief and the atmosphere people."

"I have always felt that way. When I did 'The Brave Bulls,' I went to Mexico, because the story could be filmed nowhere else."

"All the Kings Men" needed a real American town, so I went to one-Stockton, Calif. I don't think it would have been half as effective if I had shot it all in Hollywood."

AN INVESTMENT IN YOUR HEALTH

Because drug stocks are stored behind the prescription counter, few people see or realize the large investment their druggist has in drugs which are needed in order to take care of their prescriptions on short notice. Likewise, few persons realize that in many cases a $7.50 prescription today not only replaces a $1.50 prescription of years ago, but in addition it saves the hospitalization and doctor calls formerly required in conditions such as pneumonia, infectious diseases, and other ailments. Today's drugs are bargains when compared with yesterday's cost of illness. The research that is part of their cost is paying greater dividends to you in time, money, and effectiveness.

Don't Listen to Gossip; Judge Boy for Yourself

Dear Miss Dix: I am a girl of 15 and go with a nice boy of 17 from a very fine family. We have gone together about six months but lately he tells his friends that he doesn't have to worry about girls because he can get a date with me any time. Should I refuse the next date or go with him as if nothing had happened?

Answer: Discount gossip and judge for yourself if the lad is as sure of you as his friends say. You know, going steady constitutes just that—the assurance that a girl or boy is ever ready for a date. If your dating has reached the "steady" stage, naturally he doesn't feel he has to worry about girls. Suppose you talk your status over with him.

Dear Miss Dix: Jack and I have been married almost two years. He's 21, I'm 18 and we have a baby eight months old. I keep a budget and try to cut down unnecessary expenditures. I do all my own sewing, canning as well as the regular housework but can't manage to buy new curtains for the living room. However, I must do all this without my husband's co-operation. He never has learned to handle money. His hobby is collecting guns and he has 10 expensive ones. We're still paying for two of them. How can I make him cut out luxuries when we need money for necessities?

Around the World

TAIPEI, Formosa, (UP)—Massive defensive exercises will be staged shortly by United States and Nationalist Chinese forces in the Formosa strait it was reported today.

Chinese newspapers said the maneuvers would be of "unprecedented scale."

The exercises probably would be a follow-up to the SEATO war games and the two Jima amphibious operations. They would further demonstrate the firm link of the anti-Communist defenses in the Western Pacific.

EASTBOURNE, England, (UP)—A 16-year-old television starlet said today she has given up show business to lead British youth in "marathons of prayer" because of Billy Graham.

Gillian Rushen, a student at the Eastbourne High School, said she "felt the spirit touch me" after seeing the American evangelist's film "Souls in Conflict."

"I have been seized by the spirit of Christ," said Gillian.

What Industry Means to Your Home Town...

Last Saturday Hope Brick Works distributed its payroll in an unusual way — in $2 bills.

Ordinarily a $2 bill is a scarce piece of currency. But there were a lot of them around Hope this past week-end. And every time you saw a $2 bill it should have been a reminder that our organization puts into circulation in Hope a total of $315,000 a year for pay roll, services, and supplies.

And we are just one of the many local industrial plants which, taken together, are the livelihood of half of Hope's population — a major reason why our town is a good place in which to live and do business.

Adler to Take Over Zanuck's Movie Job

By BOB THOMA

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Meet Buddy Adler, the personable, handsome movie maker who is filling the shoes of the film giant Darryl Zanuck.

Last week it was announced that Zanuck was stepping out of the post as production chief at 20th Century-Fox and Adler was filling in for four months. There is no official word on what will happen after that, but trade sources say that to increase his take-home pay Zanuck will go into independent production. He will be taxed only 25 per cent on profits from independent films, whereas his studio salary puts him in the 90 per cent bracket.

At any rate, Adler takes over the reins of the gigantic studio with apparent ease. His present concern is for the four months of his announced tenancy. After that, who knows?

Adler operates smoothly and with little of the histrionics that are associated with film production. His formula?

"Luck plays a big part," he remarked. "Luck and the ability to take a chance."

His biggest chance was the making of him as a top-rank producer. That was "From Here to Eternity."

Many producers had been interested in the James Jones novel. It first became a best-seller, but it was filled with sex, four-letter words and digs at the Army. Movie men couldn't see how the story could be "whipped" into shape to win both Army and Johnson office approval.

Adler, who served four years in the Army during the war, felt it could be done. First, he brought in novelist Jones to work on the script, "but he didn't seem to understand the censorship problems we have in the movies."

Dan Taradash was hired for the script job. He managed the impossible by producing a script that pleased the censors, the Army cooperation was needed for bar racks scenes and movie goers.

The picture was good for everyone. It put Taradash in the first rank of screen writers and created whole new careers for Deborah Kerr, Frank Sinatra and Donna Reed. It established that Lancaster as a dramatic actor and started Ernest Borgnine on the road to stardom.

"From Here to Eternity" also called attention to the producing talents of Buddy Adler, who has been working in the Hollywoods for 20 years, minus four in the Army. He moved from Columbia to 20th Century-Fox two years ago.

Much of his work is reading, he said. "I read all the time, looking for stories that excite me personally. I found 'Many Splendored Things' right here on the lot when I was looking for properties. The studio had taken an option on it, but nobody had done anything about it."

Adler, a lean, personable New Yorker, in his late 40s, also is a theater owner, and that may have something to do with his success.

SHE TRIED A STOVE ONCE—Still cooking in a stone fireplace is Mrs. Joe Hollaway, who lives with her husband in a mountain home near Suches, Ga. "I tried a stove once," she says. "Unhandiest thing you ever saw. Had to cut and tote wood for it and for the fireplace, too. . . . And the food, well, a stove just takes all the taste out of your cooking." So she sold the stove. While she prepares the meal in the fireplace, above, her husband sits in an old chair reading the Bible for entertainment.

Just a Corpse at Twilight

By Robert Martin

CHAPTER XXXI

Lucy Dorn was standing by the door, where I had seen her move a few moments earlier. "Dick," she said distinctly, "I'm leaving. I'm sorry."

Dr. Jarrett was still gazing at Van Horn and seemed not to have heard her, but I smiled faintly and nodded. She ignored me and gazed at Dr. Jarrett. When he still refused to notice her, she said, "Goodbye, Dick." Her lips were trembling.

"Goodbye," Dr. Jarrett said coldly, still watching Van Horn. The closing of the door behind her made a small sharp sound in the silence.

Van Horn gazed broadly at Dr. Jarrett and said heavily, "We are not questioning your professional ability, Doctor. It is a question of ethics. You see, it was impossible to confirm or deny your diagnosis of the cause of Mr. Osborn's death, because the body has been opened before burial and the vital organs removed, all but the brain."

"From Here to Eternity" also called attention to the producing talents of Buddy Adler, who has been working in the Hollywoods for 20 years, minus four in the Army. He moved from Columbia to 20th Century-Fox two years ago.

What can you tell us about this?"

Dr. Jarrett said coldly, "You are not making sense, Doctor. If you will pardon me. Please explain."

Dr. Van Horn stopped him withers and signed again. "I had hoped you would do that."

"Me? I merely pronounced the man dead. There was no reason for an autopsy. If there had been the slightest doubt in my mind I would most certainly have ordered an autopsy. I am coroner of this county, and that is within my power, but —"

Dr. Van Horn stopped him with a lifted hand. "Then you did not know that the body had been opened?"

"Certainly not," Dr. Jarrett snapped.

"Very well," Van Horn said quietly. "We will accept your word for the present. However, I must ask you not to leave this area until this business is explained. As chief pathologist for the Welfare Commission I have the authority, in cases of this kind where there may be criminal intent, to enroll the assistance of law enforcement officers — if I deem it necessary."

"Criminal intent? I — I don't understand."

"Neither do we," Van Horn said dryly, "but we hope to."

Dr. Jarrett said, almost desperately, "but I can't stay here any longer. I'm closing my office. I have an appointment in Pittsburgh tomorrow." He spread his hands quickly. "This is — fantastic."

Van Horn gazed at him with sad brooding eyes. Then he said gently, "You can't run away from yourself, Doctor, or from the — no offense intended — the inadequacy within yourself. Unless you overcome them, they will be with you wherever you are."

"What're you taking about?" Dr. Jarrett asked harshly.

"You Van Horn said in the some file on this case and instructed to do the autopsy on Mr. Osborn. I followed my usual practice, of securing as much background, as possible, particularly regarding the diagnosing physician. I have seen your medical school and internship record, Doctor; I know that you bared passed your state board examination. In school you failed in diagnostic analysis and had to be tutored in that branch of medicine before you received your degree. I know that this is the third community in which you have set up general practice. In a small community, even in the large ones, a doctor cannot afford to make too many mistakes — that is, obvious ones."

Van Horn smiled faintly at his own grim joke and went on, "You have made several mistakes, obvious ones. But we all make mistakes, and a mistake is not a crime. But it is criminal for a medical man to make a mistake and then refuse to acknowledge it, especially when a patient's life may be at stake. Stubbornness and conceit and arrogance are grave faults in a physician. He should be humble, because people place their lives in his hands. He should be constantly seeking knowledge, and be big enough in his heart and in his mind and in his soul to acknowledge his weaknesses and to try to correct them. A doctor should have heart and humility — above his skill and training. Many have it, others do not. Those who do not should admit their fault and, if they cannot correct it, enter other useful fields — in research, for example, where they are needed. Above all, they should not remain in work where their personalities blind them to logic."

Dr. Jarrett's eyes shifted from Van Horn's steady yet kindly gaze, and when he spoke his voice trembled slightly. "That — that was quite a speech, Doctor." He tried to make it sarcastic, but to me it was rather pitiful. For just a second I had the queer feeling that I was looking at Dr. Jarrett's soul.

Santee to File Suit to Clear His Name

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—Wes Santee, America's foremost hope for the magic 4-minute mile, today angrily drew plans for a court suit against the Amateur Athletic Union, which has barred him from track for life.

The AAU took the drastic action at its Executive Committee meeting yesterday after hearing a report by an investigation committee on Santee's expenses. The committee found about $1,500 which, it said, was "overage," meaning above the allotted expenses permitted.

Unless he is backed in the courts, Santee is through as a runner. He can be reinstated as an amateur in other sports but never again in track.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The great Nashua lost little if any esteem for the unexpectedly tight finish of the Widener Handicap in which he, "the odds-on favorite," came home less than a length ahead of the next three horses.

Running the mile and a quarter feature Saturday without a tuneup, race beforehand, he didn't get the lead until the last few yards and won by only a head over Social Outcast.

Social Outcast was a head in front of Sailor, who in turn was a neck ahead of Find. It took a photograph to decide the order in which the horses came in.

Nashua had to show his best to overcome the strategy of the Alfred G. Vanderbilt pair, Find and Social Outcast.

Find, a great sprinter, led the race at a torrid pace until deep in the stretch drive. Then Social Outcast, who finishes his race with a tremendous burst of speed, plunged up from last position and barely missed.

Sailor, who had run side by side with Nashua almost the entire way, hung on to pass the fading Find.

The $92,600 purse made Nashua the second million-dollar winter in racing history and places him within striking distance for the record.

With $1,038,015 already won, Nashua may stay in Florida and try to surpass Citation's $1,085,700 in the $50,000-or-more Gulfstream Park Handicap.

AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

End of Audit Report.

WHAT IS ABC?

The Audit Bureau of Circulations, Chicago, by its own definition is: "A co-operative association of advertisers, advertising agencies and publishers for the verification of circulation of newspaper and periodical members in the United States and Canada."

It is controlled by those who buy advertising (manufacturing, merchandising and service companies, and their agencies) rather than those who sell advertising (newspapers and magazines).

COST OF ADVERTISING

Pick up an invoice for newspaper advertising and you will find that you are billed for so many column-inches at so much per inch. That's how it is billed — but that isn't how it is sold.

The price of an inch of advertising is meaningless unless you know what the paper's circulation is. When you know that you know the cost.

The cost of advertising is the cost per inch per thousand circulation. That's the great yardstick by which advertising is bought and sold from coast to coast. The national advertisers call it "the milline" — the cost per line (1/14th of an inch) per million circulation.

Now you know why ABC audits are important. They verify circulation — the factor which is combined with the publisher's charge per inch to establish the advertising cost yardstick.

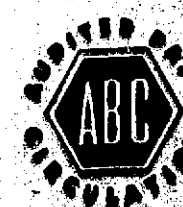

IT'S CHEAP TODAY

Hope Star's local advertising costs about the same today as in 1929. The rate-per-inch is higher, it is true — but circulation also has increased. Here is the comparison:

| | 1929 | 1956 |
|---|------|-------|
| Local "open" rate per inch per thousand | 20c | 20.4c |

And that's a performance we feel deserves a page advertisement all its own.

NEW YORK (AP) — "I'm ahead of my schedule," admitted strongman Parry O'Brien today, "so now I can't predict just how far I'll go."

That, indeed, will be bad news in Moscow, for the Russians are grooming some of their top muscle artists for the Olympics in November and December. Not that the Kremlin needed any more bad news than they got Saturday night when O'Brien, an air force lieutenant, tossed the 16-pound shot 61 feet 5 1/2 inches, further than any mortal ever.

"I had hoped to get to perhaps 61 feet and a couple of inches," the 235-pound ex-Southern California athlete continued. "But I didn't think I'd turn the trick until almost the Olympics. I wanted to come around gradually."

"But now, I can't tell. I certainly surprised myself with the put. I honestly didn't think I was capable of it at this stage in the game."

O'Brien, who already holds every shotput mark in the books, made his great toss in the national AAU championships in Madison Square Garden Saturday night.

He hadn't gotten off a 60-footer incocks until this one. His best previous was 59-9 a week ago.

O'Brien's tremendous have stole the glory from Bob Backus of the New York Athletic Club, who got off a world indoor record 63-10 1/4 in the 35-pound weight throw. He broke his own official mark of 63-5.

Arnel Sowell of Pitt turned in a good performance, running the 1,000 in 2:08.4 against the clock. He had no opposition and might have lowered the record of 2:08.2 he shares with Don Gehrman if he had been pushed.

Other winners included Lou Jones of the New York Pioneer Club in the 800 1:11. John Heines of Penn in the 400-yard dash 4:2. Roy Range of Los Angeles in the 1500 15:1.

broad jump (24-7 1/2). Ron Delany of Villanova in the mile (4:14). Lee Calhoun of North Carolina College in the 60-yard high hurdles (7.2). Henry Laskau of New York in the mile walk (6:44.5). Ernie Shelton of Los Angeles in the high jump 6-9. Bob Richards of Los Angeles and Don Bragg of Villanova in the pole vault (15-1).

Little Captures the Texas Open SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Young Gene Littler, who came from five strokes back with a closing rush to win the Texas Open, headed the golf tour toward Houston today as leading money winner of the year.

The Palm Springs, Calif., golfer shot a blazing 7-under-par 65 on the last 18 holes yesterday. That gave him a 12-under-par 378 for 72 holes and $3,750. His total winnings of $7,225.00 pushed him ahead of Lloyd Mangrum, Apple Valley, Calif., who failed to get in the money here. Mangrum now is in second place with $6,504.

Littler had no trouble with the 6,568-yard Ft. Sam Houston course as he strung seven birdies with 13 pars and wound up two strokes ahead of the field.

As expected Ashdown took the District 7W Senior girls A title here Saturday night with a 63 to 50 victory over the Nashville Scrapettes. In a preliminary contest and by far the best game of the night Texarkana's Razorettes edged the Hope girls 42 to 40.

Actually Ashdown's girls won the title by defeating Hope in the opening round Wednesday night. The winner was expected to go all the way and they did without too much trouble.

The all-district team included Berlie Allen of Hope, McDowell and Crawford of Ashdown and Shannon of Nashville at the forward spots. The guards included Carver of Ashdown, Humphries of Nashville, C. Cox and Linda Rateliff of Hope.

Three times this year the Hope girls have played the Texarkana girls and were barely edged every time. Texarkana is considered one of the best teams in the state having twice beaten last year's champions Van Buren.

Ironically Saturday night the Hope girls blew a six point lead with only two minutes left.

Mitchell Hires New Assistant

FAYETTEVILLE, (AP) — Razorback Coach Jack Mitchell has hired a fellow Oklahoma graduate as assistant football coach at the University of Arkansas. The new assistant is Bert Clark, a center who captained the University of Oklahoma football team in 1950. Mitchell quarterbacked the Sooners in 1948-49. Clark will report before the opening of spring football practice.

Hope's Junior boys won the District 7-W title Saturday night at Prescott with a rousing 51 to 30 victory over the DeQueen Juniors.

The contest was never very close. Hope jumped to a 17 to 6 first period lead and was never headed. At the half the Bobkittens had increased the lead to 16 points with score 32 to 16. At the end of three it was even more one sided with DeQueen limited to only one point, 42 to 17.

Four local boys got into the scoring with David Watkins leading with 16. Hatfield and Foster tossed in 12 each while Hairr made 11. Substitutes saw action much of the way.

Cox was practically the whole show for the DeQueen boys with 14 markers. No other DeQueen player made more than four points.

Closing out the regular season with 17 wins against two losses the Hope lads won the only two tournaments they entered, the other being the Texarkana Invitational meet.

So the Hope boys will go to the State meet in Leachville this week. The Bobkittens play Russellville at 2 p. m. Thursday.

The all-district tournament team included two from Hope, David Watkins and Bill Foster; McKenzic and Sullivan from Prescott and Cox of DeQueen. Playing like all-tourney men were Hope's Hatfield, Graves and Hairr.

IT'S NEW! IT'S EXCITING HOPE STAR'S MYSTERY FARM CONTEST MYSTER FARM NO. 13

Here's How the Contest Works ---

Each week, Hope Star will picture an aerial view of a farm located in the Hope Trade Area. Thirteenth in a series of "Mystery Farm" photos is pictured above.

No one on the Star staff knows whose farm this is, but if the Owner will stop in and identify his farm, he will receive a beautiful mounted aerial view picture.

The "Mystery Farm" will be identified in Hope Star the following week and the winners names will be published. Only one winner each month to an immediate family.

The contest is open to everyone except employees of Hope Star and their families, the County Agent, Home Demonstration Agent, Real Estate Agent, their office staffs and their families.

Watch for these photos each week, for a picture of your farm may be included in this series. We hope you will enjoy this contest and take an active part in it.

The "Mystery Farm" series is sponsored by the merchants shown on this page.

Here's What You Win ---

The first person coming to Hope Star office and correctly identify the "Mystery Farm" will receive two passes to the Saenger Theatre. You must register your answer at the Star office.

Hope Star will award prizes to the first three (3) persons correctly identifying the "Mystery Farm." Merchandise Certificate Award of: $5.00, $3.00, $2.00 will be given the first, second and third place winners each week. Certificates must be used with any Advertiser appearing on this page.

BLUE LABEL
ECONA
Contains PHENOTHIAZINE

Blue Label Econa contains one gram of Phenothiazine per pound and since the normal consumption of Econa is 2-3 pounds per day, each animal will get the recommended 2-3 grams of Phenothiazine required for "Low Level" control.

Blue label ECONA provides the easy and low cost way to feed Phenothiazine.

Because ECONA is self rationing, animals will get the right amount — not too little, not too much.
